

All Blur Together

THE PROBLEM:

Content specialists aren't the literacy content developers

- Assessment literacy materials are often an afterthought.
- When they are produced, they often resemble textbook material: long and tedious.
- Assessment content specialists are not web-developers (often word documents)